Spiritual Disciplines Guide

Week of April 28, 2024

Paul writes a second letter to the Christians at Corinth approximately one year after 1 Corinthians. Unlike the first letter, he is not writing primarily to correct behavior or erroneous doctrine. This letter is more personal than the first and focuses on Paul's ministry and his authority as an apostle. Apparently someone has come to Corinth with "Apostolic Credentials" and is challenging Paul's teaching and work. Paul also writes to encourage the church at Corinth to finish the task of getting an offering together for the needy saints in the church of Jerusalem. Two themes that stand out in 2 Corinthians are suffering for the gospel and the comfort of God. One mystery presented in 2 Corinthians is Paul's reference to a "thorn in his flesh", given him by the devil and used by God to humble him. (2 Corinthians 12:7-10) No more detail is given about this affliction, although speculations abound as to what it could be. Pay close attention this week to Paul's teaching on the New Covenant and how we are now included in this ministry (2 Corinthians 3:6)
